

MICHAEL ANDERSON

Forestry Economics Trainer

- San Francisco, CA
- (555) 234-5678
- michael.anderson@email.com

Proficient forestry trainer with a strong emphasis on forestry economics and policy. Over 9 years of experience in educating stakeholders about the economic implications of forestry practices and policies. Expertise in analyzing economic data to inform training content and improve decision-making processes. Proven ability to facilitate discussions among diverse groups to foster understanding of forestry economics.

WORK EXPERIENCE

Forestry Economics Trainer | Forest Economics Institute

Jan 2022 – Present

- Developed training modules focused on the economic aspects of forestry management.
- Conducted workshops on the impact of forestry policies on local economies.
- Analyzed economic data to create relevant training content.
- Facilitated stakeholder meetings to discuss forestry economic strategies.
- Worked with policymakers to align training with legislative objectives.
- Evaluated participant understanding through pre-and post-training assessments.

Policy Analyst | Sustainable Forestry Council

Jul 2019 – Dec 2021

- Conducted research on the economic impacts of forestry policies.
- Developed policy briefs to inform stakeholders of key economic data.
- Collaborated with industry experts to enhance policy development processes.
- Facilitated discussions on sustainable forestry practices and economic outcomes.
- Published reports on the economic viability of forestry initiatives.
- Presented findings at national conferences focused on forestry economics.

SKILLS

forestry economics

policy development

data analysis

training facilitation

stakeholder engagement

research

EDUCATION

Master of Science in Forestry Economics

2015 – 2019

University of Michigan

ACHIEVEMENTS

- Increased stakeholder participation in forestry policy discussions by 40%.
- Recognized by the National Forestry Economics Association for outstanding contributions.
- Published articles in leading economics journals on forestry practices.

LANGUAGES

English

Spanish

French