ACHIEVEMENTS

- Published research on inclusive education strategies in a leading educational journal.
- Awarded 'Excellence in Special Education Research' by the National Association for Special Education in 2020.
- Successfully secured funding for a project aimed at improving resources for special education teachers.

Accomplished School Education Researcher with a focus on special education. Over the course of eight years, I have dedicated my career to investigating effective teaching strategies for students with disabilities. My research has centered on identifying best practices in inclusive education and developing interventions that support diverse learners. I have collaborated with teachers, administrators, and families to create tailored educational plans that enhance student learning experiences.
